

Defeating Terrorism With Tyranny

Part One: Secret Stuff

Back in the early part of the terrorism hysteria, the congress directed the Secretary of the US Department of Agriculture to develop a plan to protect the national food supply. A laudable idea.

The Secretary and his staff saw this as an opportunity to make america safe for corporate farming, and went overboard developing a plan called the National Animal Identification System. (From here on referred to as NAIS)

Instead of developing a plan and taking it to congress, they created the system you see on the nut shell page, and set about forcing its implementation.

Then they put out a handbook for the public claiming that they were developing a voluntary system. The funny thing is that they admit in their own business plan that the system must be made mandatory or it will not work.

It is scary stuff when a government department lies to the public, knowing that they are lying and thinks that you are so stupid that they will get away with it.

Part Two: A Powerless Congress?

Wait a minute there Browning, my congressman, Sam Graves, is on the Agriculture Committee, and the Small Business Committee. What has he done to get the word out? Surely, he is doing his best to block this intrusion on my life and freedom?

Those are great questions, and the answer is that Sam has done nothing.

Third: What can I do?
Educate yourself as to the facts.

Go to my web site hit the NAIS button, and download the representations they are making, their plan, and their rules. Read them, see for yourself, and then google the net about this issue.

Once you have a firm grasp on the facts, you are going to be mad. Organize your friends and neighbors. Do not vote for any Senator, Congressman, or Representative that supports this tyranny. Make them swear to deauthorize and defund this program.

Right now, I am the only one of the three congressional candidates who will be on the November ballot that has made a written promise to fight this abusive power grab by the Department of Agriculture.

I need your money and your support. The others are not telling you about this issue. Hold their feet to the fire on this, or you will find yourselves reduced to serfs on your own land.
